BE PREPARED: PSALM 105

Prepare for it: Pray for God's help for this passage to change your heart.

Psalm 105 is an hymn of celebration which rejoices in the history of redemption from Israel's time in Egypt, through the wilderness to the entry into Canaan. It highlights God's fidelity as Creator-Ruler and the Redeemer of his people. Ps 105 was used for great festivals; perhaps even when David brought the Arc to Jerusalem (1 Chron 16:18-36).

Read It: Psalm 105:1-6, 37-45(www.biblegateway.com/passage/?search=Psalm+105)

What is the theme of the first 4 verse of this psalm?

What reason is given for this praise in vv5,6?

How does the psalmist depict Israel's leaving Egypt? (vv37,38)

How did Israel's time in the desert reveal God's power? (vv39-41)

What two reasons are given for why God did this? (vv42-45)

Think About It:

Do you see the difficulties in life as God's blessing, or a curse?

How will you respond to all God's providence toward you?

Get the Message:

The first 4 verses on Psalm 105 offer a vigorous call to praise by using a succession of verbs ("give praise", "proclaim", "make known", "sing", "tell", "glory", "rejoice") all of which implore the hearer to praise God and to make that praise known to others. The basis for this praise is revealed in vv5,6. The call to "Remember the wonders he has done" gives a powerful reason for this praise. This psalm calls on "all God's servants" to join this remembrance. Verses 7-11 tell of God's covenant promises to Abraham and Jacob, and verses 12-15 illustrate God's protection of these patriarchs. Verses 16-23 speak of God's providence as He took Jacob (also called Israel) and his family to Egypt and saved them from famine, and verses 24-36 tell of God's actions to secure Israel's release from slavery in Egypt. Israel's departure was not that of a beaten people running away from slavery; they were laden with silver and gold and their enemies, the Egyptians, were glad to see them go. Nor was their time in the desert a time of defeat: God guided them with cloud and fire, fed them with manna and quail and brought forth water from the rock so that it flowed like a river the desert. The conclusion to this celebration of God's providence is the recognition that God acts both because of His faithfulness ("he remembered his holy promise given to his servant Abraham") and so that His people "might keep his precepts and observe His laws". All this is God's free gift to His people. As Paul said 1000 years later "it is by grace you have been saved, through faith... not by works... For we are God's handiwork, created in Christ Jesus to do good works, which God prepared in advance for us to do."
